

EXTERNAL JURY MEMBERS

OATH OF JUSTITIA STUDENT COMPETITION

Tatiana Caldas- Löttiger

Tatiana Caldas-Löttiger is an international business lawyer legally trained in Colombia, USA & Sweden, specialized in European Law and International Business & Trade Law. She is an advocate of ethical AI and Cultural Intelligence holds regularly talks about these topics at The Annual Global Legal Skills Conference, organized by JMLS in cooperation with top US law schools.

Throughout her professional career, she has worked in the public and private sectors for organizations like The Colombian Minister of Foreign Affairs, in Bogota, Freeborn & Peters LL.P, in Chicago; Eversheds-Sutherland and SAP, both based in Stockholm. Currently, Tatiana is based in Stockholm where she works as an interim legal counsel, and is the Global Managing Partner at Executive HUB.

Laura Fauqueur

Laura Fauqueur is a Director for the Masters in Legal Tech of the CEU Institute of Advanced Management (Madrid, Spain), the first onsite Masters fully dedicated to Legaltech to be taught in Spanish language. Apart from giving lectures for this and other universities, she also works as a Legal Designer and Design Thinking facilitator, and as a consultant in innovation, digital transformation and marketing for the legal industry. Laura was granted the European Tech Women 2020 Award – Legaltech category - by the Department of International Trade of the Government of the United Kingdom, as well as the Women in Legaltech 2020 Award by EWOLT.

Václav Janeček is a Research and Course Development Fellow in Law and Technology, working on the project 'Unlocking the Potential of AI for English Law'. Together with Rebecca Williams and Tom Melham he is a co-director of the Oxford LawTech Education Programme and the Law and Computer Science university course. He is currently hosted as a Research Fellow by the Institute of Law and Technology at Masaryk University. Václav's work explores the intersection of law, philosophy and technology.

Václav Janeček

Quddus Pourshafie

Quddus is a qualified lawyer, Musician and Technologist that has been recognized and worked with Big4 Leaders, Legal business Leaders, Legal Tech companies and Institutes Globally to navigate the future of law.

Known for his ability to think laterally and connect the dots across human and technological concepts, Quddus provides unique insights to various people and projects working on current challenges and their future vision for law and legal practice.

His areas of expertise include: Business development, IP, Systems Design, LegalTech, Blockchain and Cryptocurrency.

Marc Quabius

As an international professional with over 21 years of experience in the airline & aviation industry Marc currently serves as Director Legal at EDGE Group PJSC, an Abu Dhabi-based holding in the defence sector. Prior to that, Marc was General Counsel and Company Secretary at AMMROC, an MRO operating from Al Ain, UAE, where he led the company's Legal and Compliance Unit for two and a half years. Earlier, Marc served as Senior Legal Counsel at Etihad Airways. His early career saw him serve as Legal Counsel at Lufthansa Systems and Lufthansa Systems Passenger Services.

Nina Stoeckel

Together with her team Nina drives and embraces change and innovation within Group Legal & Compliance at Merck and delivers value to the organization. She understands the challenges of modernizing legal departments and one example is the recently launched global legal document management system based on O365. Nina champions development in a self-sustaining way and carves diverse and high performing teams. Nina is a fully qualified lawyer with a very profound background in designing and implementing compliance programs in the pharmaceutical industry. Here the key focus has been to deliver integrated solutions as well as involving and target group oriented training and communication campaigns. Aside from this, she has broad experience in managing strategic projects with a global scope. Nina is inspired by combining in depth legal and compliance knowledge with process design and sustainable implementation approaches.

Emma Ziercke

Emma Ziercke is a former Linklaters Managing Associate (Corporate) from the UK. After moving to Hamburg, Germany, she completed an Executive MBA, receiving an award for best overall performance, as well as for her dissertation on gender diversity in law firms. Emma currently works at the Bucerius Center on the Legal Profession at the Bucerius Law School as a senior research associate in the fields of law firm management, diversity, and organisational behaviour. Furthermore, Emma works closely with the next generation of lawyer, teaching law firm management, as well as other legal and skills-based courses, at the Bucerius Law School.